

14

Acres of park and shoreline habitat

3,210

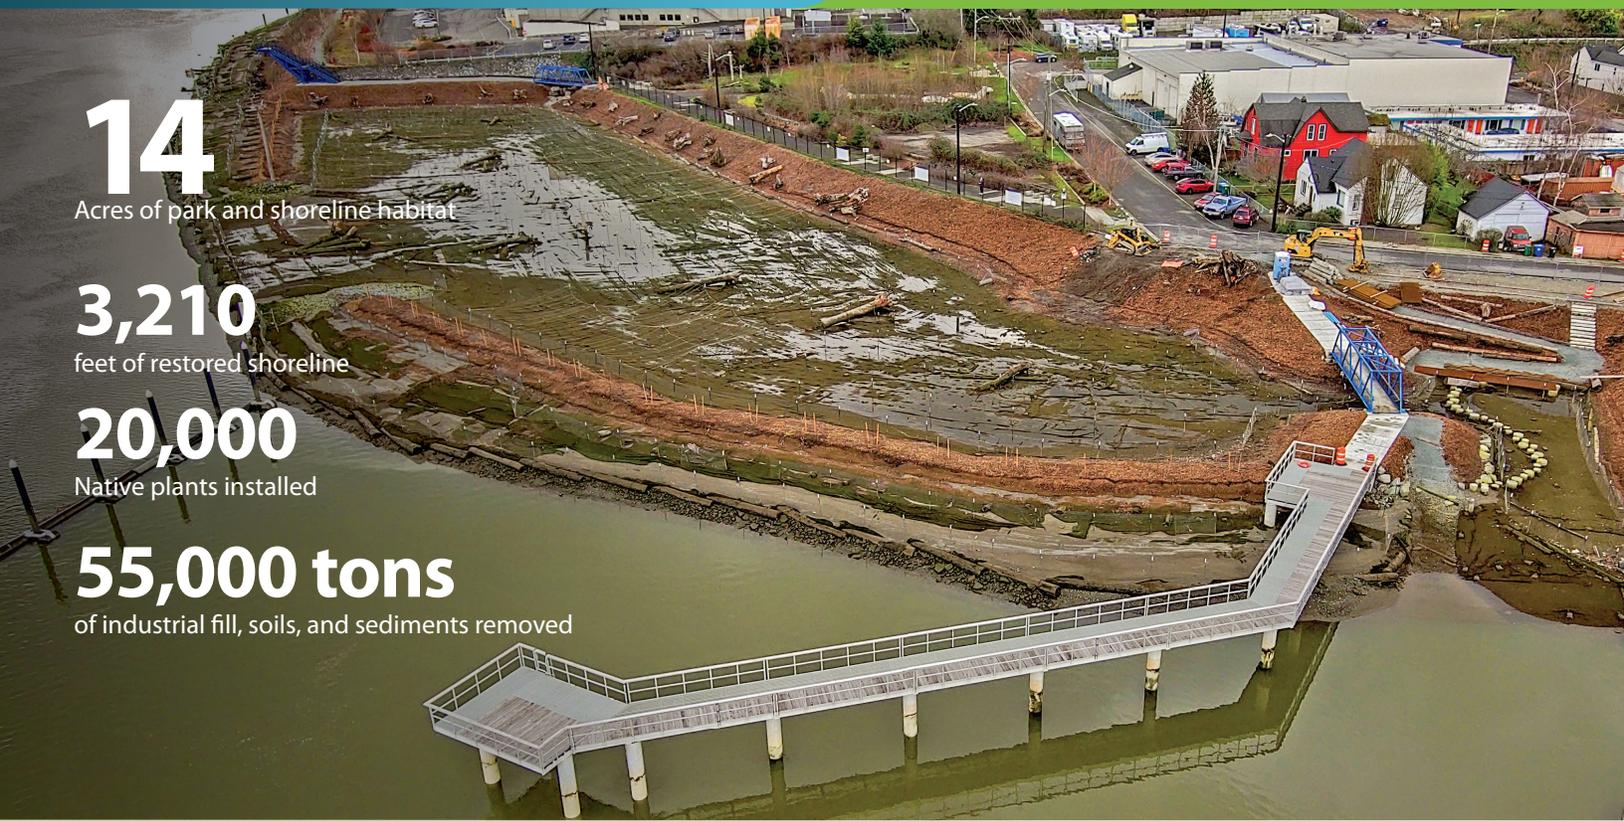

feet of restored shoreline

20,000

Native plants installed

55,000 tons

of industrial fill, soils, and sediments removed

Tribal fishing nets

Osprey

Intertidal marsh

Osprey nest

THE LARGEST HABITAT RESTORATION ON THE DUWAMISH IN A GENERATION

History

Duwamish River People's Park is a two-decade ongoing story about the Duwamish Valley community and the Port of Seattle's long journey to cleanup an old industrial site and transform it into a 14-acre shoreline habitat with public access to the Duwamish River.

Green Economy

Port's first "mitigation bank site" that enables third parties to purchase compensatory mitigation credits from the Port to comply with Clean Water Act and Endangered Species Act requirements. The revenue generated by mitigation credit sales will fund additional habitat restoration projects in the Green-Duwamish Watershed and Elliott Bay.

Environmental Education

The site will serve as a learning lab for aspiring environmentalists seeking skills training and hands-on experience with careers in habitat restoration and marine wildlife conservation.

Community Benefits

The Duwamish River People's Park will be open for all to enjoy views of the Duwamish River and its shoreline habitat from an elevated river walkway, explore a walking path with a hand-carried boat launch, read interpretive signage, and view public art designed with the community.

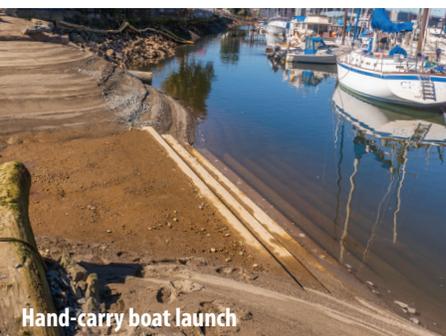

Salmon and Orca Recovery

Supports recovery of the endangered Southern Resident orca population by significantly increasing habitat critical to abundance and health of Chinook salmon.

Duwamish River Community Hub

Hand-carry boat launch

Public pier

Owl boxes

Public viewing platform

Explore more about the Duwamish River People's Park
www.portseattle.org/peoplespark

DUWAMISH RIVER COMMUNITY HUB
 8600 14th Ave S • Seattle, WA 98108

Check out the Duwamish River Community Hub. Located in the heart of the South Park business district.

Find out more information about booking the Hub today!

www.portseattle.org/duwamishriverhub