

This is Maritime is a dynamic video series from the Port of Tacoma that brings maritime careers to life. Through real stories from local professionals, viewers get an inside look at the people, pathways, and possibilities that power our region's working waterfront.

From environmental innovation to logistics and operations, each video highlights a different role within the maritime industry, showing how these careers support communities, protect the environment, and keep global trade moving.

The series also connects directly to hands-on training opportunities available at the Maritime 253 Skills Center, located at the Port's Maritime Center, helping students and jobseekers explore clear, accessible pathways into high-demand maritime careers.

If the above link does not work, the videos can also be accessed here:*

<https://www.portoftacoma.com/thisismaritime>

